An Improvement to Household Cleaning Gloves

We do a lot of cleaning, but we don't like many household gloves. They're hot, uncomfortable, and leave a latex smell on your hands.

Glove manufacturer Clean Ones researched consumer dissatisfaction and launched a new "premium" household glove, the Ultimate Latex Free Glove. It's odor-free and allergen-free: no BPA, no phthalates and, of course, no latex.

The gloves are pink, and 10% of proceeds benefit the Susan G. Komen for the Cure Foundation. The foundation funds breast cancer research, education, advocacy, health services and social support programs.

Here's what else you get with these nifty household gloves:

- Comfort. The plush lining is a dream—so comfortable, we didn't want to take the gloves off! This new glove is specially designed to provide the highest levels of comfort, while protecting hands from chemicals, germs and messes.
- Dexterity. While the gloves are 35% thicker than standard household gloves, they are contoured, not clunky. We were able to use them for delicate tasks.

The gloves are available at major retailers nationwide. Here's a store locator www.cleanones.com/storesLatexFree.html
